Public Health screening with the express intent to remove people with Down syndrome from the population is divisive and a disproportionate response to both actual potential quality of life and exaggerates health problems.

The Politics of Down Syndrome

Politics is, above all, a social activity. It is always a dialogue, and never a monologue. Solitary individuals such as Robinson Crusoe may be able to develop a simple economy, produce art, and so on, but they cannot engage in politics. Politics emerges only with the arrival of a Man (or Woman) Friday.
